REPORT.

TO THE CLASS:

In presenting to the Class their fifth report, the Secretary desires to thank those who answered promptly the circulars sent them. Some members have found their time too precious to take any notice of the questions submitted, and they must not feel slighted at omissions or occasional mistakes in what is recorded.

The Secretary believes his Class is in touch with him in the wish to make these reports of value; and to be of value they must be accurate and complete.

When the matter of bringing out this Fifth Report came up two years ago, there was so little interest shown in the responses, that it seemed to me preferable to defer the publication until after another Class dinner. Such occasion brings many men together, and awakens afresh Class feeling. Beyond the amount of detail incident to a Class report, cheerfully undertaken by your Secretary, bringing the book out is in and of itself a considerable drain on the Class resources, and a report once in five or six years would seem as often as need be.

It has been more than a disappointment that so few men have kept the Secretary correctly informed as to address, with such items of general interest as marriages, births of children, deaths, and other facts which become essential data for succeeding reports.

The Secretary cannot close without a word as to the record of the Class as a whole. It is distinctly a hard-working class; and it is a class that we may one and all be proud of, and appreciate to a greater degree each year the honor of membership.

And now, in wishing you contentment, happiness, and all the good things of life, in due season, I would ask you to notify me of any errors or omissions in this report, and assure you of my earnest endeavor to do all in my power for the welfare of our dear old Class at Harvard.

Very truly your friend and classmate,

WILLIAM L. CHASE,
Secretary.

HARVARD COLLEGE, 1876.

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

June, 1876—October, 1894.

DANIEL WEBSTER ABERCROMBIE. Born at Bolling Green, Ala., Nov. 25, 1853. After graduation, at Harvard Law School until February, 1877, when he went to St. Mark's School, Southborough, Mass., as instructor, until June, 1878; in September, 1878, began to teach at the Vermont Academy, Saxton's River, Vt., and taught there until March, 1882, when he was appointed classical instructor in the Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass., of which, in November, 1882, he was elected acting principal, and in June, 1883, was elected principal, and has so continued. Spent the summer of 1885, 1889, and 1892 abroad, chiefly in study of methods of secondary education. In June, 1883, received honorary degree A.M. from Brown University. Is now abroad for study and well-earned rest. Address: Worcester, Mass.

HARCOURT AMORY. Born at Brookline, Mass., Feb. 10, 1855. Travelled in Europe for a year after graduation, and since then has been in business, managing various trusts, Director Suffolk National Bank, State Street

Safe Deposit and Trust Company, treasurer of the Lancaster Mills and Brookline Gas Light Co., and trustee of Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge and Harvard Loan Fund. Was in the State Militia for ten years; now resident of Boston. Married Gertrude Loundes Chase, April 18, 1891. Office: Room 51, 40 Water street, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM HERBERT ATKINSON. Son of Rev. Kinsman and Dorothy Mirack (Woods) Atkinson, was born in Lunenburg, Mass., June 20, 1853. Graduated in the classical course of the Cambridge High school in 1871, and entered Harvard without conditions. Joined the class of 1876 at the beginning of their junior year. In September, 1876, entered, one year in advance, Drew Theological School, at Madison, N.J., and in November, 1877, began his ministry at Worcester, Mass. He was ordained a deacon in the Methodist Episcopal church by Bishop Simpson, April 6, 1879, and elder by Bishop Andrews, at Milford, Mass. He has been pastor of churches in the following places: Shelburne Falls, Wilbraham, Prescott, Worthington, Leyden, Blandford, and Princeton in Massachusetts. In April, 1890, he joined the Vermont Conference at its annual session at Brattleboro, Vt. This conference includes the Methodist churches of the State. He became pastor of churches at Mechanicsville and Cuttingsville, Vt., which churches he served three years, as well as built a new church during this time at Cuttingsville, Vt., which was dedicated, free of debt, May 13, 1891. Following this, has served churches at Milton and West Berkshire, Vt.

Married at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 17, 1878, Harriet Elizabeth Warfield, of Cambridge, for nearly four years teacher in the public schools of Cambridge. Address: P.O. Box 16, West Berkshire, Vt.

DANIEL CARPENTER BACON. Born at Jamaica Plain, Mass., July 3, 1854. After graduation went into office of Lee, Higginson & Co., Boston, but left and went West, and has been engaged successfully in banking and stock-raising in Wyoming ever since. Address: Laramie National Bank, Laramie City, Wyoming Territory.

THURLOW WEED BARNES. Born June 28, 1853. Joined the class, June, 1873. After graduation, went on the staff of the "Evening Journal," at Albany, N.Y., and was active in editorial and political work until 1883, when he wrote a life of Thurlow Weed, which was published, in 1884, by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. In 1884 and 1885 made a tour of the world. Returned to Albany in 1886, and was reëlected chairman of the Republican General Committee. His wife died Feb. 11, 1886. He married Frances Isabel Morris, at New York, Oct. 13, 1887, and in December, 1887, went to Boston, joining the firm of Houghton, Mifflin & Co. as a partner April 1, 1888. In 1891 and 1892 travelled extensively in the East, and in 1892 took up his residence in New York city, where he now lives. Address: Metropolitan Club, New York, N.Y.

CHARLES HENRY BARROWS. Born at Springfield, Mass., Aug. 4, 1853. Graduated at the Harvard Law School, June, 1878; admitted to the bar, March 19, 1879. Practised law in Springfield. Aug. 1, 1881, appointed assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts; retired February, 1883. Is president of the International Young Men's Christian Association Training School. Besides his professional work has written considerably. Married Jeanie Elizabeth Rayner, Sept. 19, 1889. Address: Springfield, Mass.

CHARLES JOHN BELL. Born at Somerville, Mass., Oct. 2, 1854. Studied in Germany, November, 1876, to August, 1881. Graduate student, Johns Hopkins, 1881–82. Fellow Johns Hopkins University, 1882. Professor chemistry, Pennsylvania State College, 1882–85; resigned July, 1885, and has been professor chemistry, medical department University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, since 1888. WILLIAM ALBERT BROWNLOW. Born at Cambridge, Mass., May 19, 1854. Graduated from Harvard Law School in 1878. Admitted to the bar Nov. 15, 1879. In 1885 gave up practice of law and entered the Boston Custom-House, where he is assistant weigher in charge of one of Boston's three districts. Address: 499 Beacon street, Boston, Mass.

JAMES HOVEY BULLARD. Born at Holliston, Mass., March 1, 1856. "After graduation entered Harvard Medical School. Received degree of M.D., and served the regular time as house-surgeon at the Boston City Hospital. Went abroad in January, 1882, and remained until November, 1883, studying medicine in Berlin, Paris, Edinburgh, Dublin, and London; came to California in April, 1884, and after some months looking about located at Anaheim, Orange Co., in Southern California. Here I have built myself a home, naturally vine embowered and fig shaded, in which I hope to grow old gracefully and die peacefully. I take an active interest in the different medical societies of the Pacific coast, am ex-president of the Orange County Medical Society, health officer here, and occasionally write an article for our Pacific-coast medical journals. My practice is sufficiently extensive to so exhaust all my energies in its pursuit that I find little time or inclination for any indulgences outside of it. I have, however, made a somewhat thorough study of the flora of California, and consider myself an authority on this subject. I became married, rather incidentally perhaps, last summer while on a trip East to the World's Fair and elsewhere. The formula for this proceeding read as follows: Mr. Theodore E. Schmidt announces the marriage of his daughter, Frances Emily, to Dr. James Hovey Bullard, Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1893, New York. At home after Nov. 15, 1893, Anaheim, Cal." Address: Anaheim, Orange Co., Cal.

WILLIAM HARRY BURBANK. Born at Lowell, Mass., Oct. 18, 1853. The first year after graduation was spent in travelling; after that was a student at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, where he graduated, and was duly ordained. Was rector of the Episcopal Church at Woodsville, N.H. From 1889 to 1891 was rector of St. Paul's Church, Brunswick, Me. Had no parish from November, 1891, to May, 1892, when he went to St. Paul's Church, Columbus, O., as assistant. In November, 1892, took charge of mission work in Bellaire and Martin's Ferry, O. In June, 1893, became rector of St. Luke's Church, Cincinnati. Address: 204 Dayton street, Cincinnati, O.

FRANK WESLEY BURNHAM. Born at Boston, Mass., Sept. 13, 1855. "Taught in private school in Manlius, N.Y., from fall of 1876 till fall of 1878. Taught in private school in Cincinnati till summer of 1880, and for a year or two after assisted numerous sub-freshmen in the capacity of 'coach.' Bought twelve hundred acres of wood-land in Delaware county, N.Y., and moved here in 1887. Have since been interested in 'wood acid' business, and in lumber, and have also a large sheep and cattle ranch in process of development." Received degree LL.B. Cincinnati Law School, May, 1881, and same month admitted to the bar at Columbus, O. Married Fanny Holcomb, Sept. 13, 1887. Address: Chiloway, Delaware Co., N.Y.

FRANK WOODRUFF CHAPIN. Born at Erie, Pa., March 3, 1854. Graduated at the Bellevue Hospital Medical College, 1879, and appointed assistant physician to Riverside Hospital, New York, 1880, made resident physician; 1882 appointed to a sanitary inspectorship; 1883–84 abroad for travel and study, and afterwards inspector of contagious diseases for a year or more. Physician to the Out-patient Department of the Presbyterian Hospital in 1888. Assistant to the chair of practice at Bellevue 1886–89, and clinical assistant. Practised in Astoria, L.I., for a year. Has been associate medical director of the United States Life Insurance Co., and is medical director of the Home Life Insurance Co., 256 Broadway. Is associated with Dr. Edward G. Janeway. Married Roberta Mott, April 25, 1889. Residence, 122 W. 58th street, New York. Address: 256 Broadway, New York city.

FRANK EUGENE CHASE. Born at Boston, March 16, 1856; writes:

"There is not an item on the sheet of questions you send me to which I can return any answer whatever, so entirely without event has my life been since the last issue of the Class Report. Such as I was then I am now, plus forty pounds or so of flesh and minus a measureless quantity of enthusiasm, hope, ambition, conceit, and other spiritual matters.

"I am still obscurely conducting a publishing business of about the commercial importance of a peanut stand, and standing godfather to publications of the literary value of a circus poster. I am no longer writing dubious dramatic criticisms for the 'Boston Courier,' having had the strength of mind to give up the vice. By such means I contrive to deserve a living from the world, which, I am given to understand, owes this much to all men.

"I am not married, and have no children. I am moved to add this perhaps gratuitous appendix by a consciousness of the low moral standard which some of our classmates may still patiently maintain. I have neither died nor had occasion to accept the alternative of public office. I have done no literary work — just simply written a bit.

"I am to be found hereafter at No. 23 Winter street, Boston, Mass., as before."

WILLIAM LEVERETT CHASE. Born at Grafton, Mass., Dec. 4, 1853. President Papyrus Club, Boston; Massachusetts Society Sons of the Revolution, and Victoria Mills Corporation, Newburyport; vice-president State Street Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Commercial Club of Boston; Director Boston Wharf Company, Fitchburg Railroad Company, Third National Bank; Junior Warden Saint Paul's Church, Brookline; Trustee Church Home for Orphans and Destitute Children, Society for the Relief of the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church; member Metropolitan Park Commission. Merchant. Residence: Brookline. Office: 233 State street, Boston, Mass.

JAMES EDWIN CLEAVES. Born at Somerville, Mass., July 5, 1853. Graduated at Harvard Medical School in 1879, and practised during August and September in Amesbury, Mass. In November, 1879, settled in Medford, Mass., where he is now practising as physician and surgeon. Address: Medford, Mass.

WILLIAM BRANFORD SHUBRICK CLYMER. Born at Washington, D.C., March 19, 1855. Studied architecture in the office of Ware & Van Brunt, Boston, 1876–77, and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1877–78. Went abroad in the fall of 1878 and studied in Paris. On his return to this country in 1880, settled in Washington, and engaged in literary studies. Appointed instructor in English at Harvard College at the beginning of the academic year 1883–84, and held that position until 1890. Has been abroad recently. Residence and address: 1617 H street, Washington, D.C.

RICHARD SMITH CULBRETH. Born at Smyrna, Del., June 7, 1856. At Cambridge 1876–77, and tutor at St.

Mark's School, Southborough, Mass. 1877–78 on staff "Evening News," Baltimore. 1878–79 University of Law, Baltimore. September, 1879, began practice of law in Baltimore with C. Ridgely Goodwin, under firm name of Goodwin & Culbreth, with office at 31 North Calvert street, Baltimore, Md., and has since practised his profession there. Residence: Hotel Albion, Baltimore, Md.

GEORGE MILLER CUMMING. Born at Pottsville, Penn., Oct. 4, 1854. Was at the Harvard Law School for a few months, then went abroad, studied in Germany, and returned in 1879. Studied at the Columbia Law School. Admitted to the New York bar, November, 1881. Afterward lived at Winnipeg, at St. Paul, and at Omaha. Is now resident of New York. Address: 41 E. 49th street, New York city.

RALPH WORMELEY CURTIS. Born at Boston, Mass., Aug. 28, 1854. Went to Europe just after graduation, to study painting. Has lived in Paris and Venice, though he has travelled a great deal in Europe and Africa and into the far East, and spent a few weeks in Boston. Has written art criticisms and translated from the French and Italian for reviews. Has had paintings in the Salon almost every year, and by painstaking as well as brilliant work won high standing as an artist. Residence: Plazzo Barbaro, Grand Canal, Venice, Italy.

SIMON DAVIS. Born at Charlestown, Mass., Sept. 25, 1854. Joined the class, September, 1873. Studied law from December, 1876, until September, 1878, in office of Fisher & Leverett, Boston, when he entered Harvard Law School, and graduated June 30, 1880. Admitted to the bar, May 25, 1880; on Sept. 13, 1880, opened an office at 25 Main street, Charlestown, Mass. In 1886 appointed special justice of Municipal Court for Charlestown District, and elected to the Boston School Board, December, 1891, for three years. Residence: Boston. Address: Rooms 37 and 38, 13 School street, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM DAVIS. Born at Plymouth, Mass., Sept. 28, 1853. Graduated at the Harvard Medical School; spent one year in hospital work, and one year in study in Germany. Practised two years in Syracuse, N.Y., but, as the climate did not agree with his family, in the spring of 1883 removed to St. Paul, Minn., where he has practised medicine. Is editor of "Northwestern Lancet." Address: 509 Laurel avenue, St. Paul, Minn.

LAFAYETTE HOYT DeFRIESE. Until January, 1877, on State Geological Survey of Kentucky. Studied law with Prichard, Choate & Smith; became managing clerk for Whitney & Lawton, 1877. Passed examination at general term of Supreme Court, and 1879–81 practised alone. In June, 1881, admitted to firm of Whitney & Lawton, — afterward Whitney, Lawton & DeFriese, — and is now a member of the firm of Steele, DeFriese & Dickson, with offices in New York and London. Address: 55 and 56 Old Broad street, London, England.

CHARLES ALBERT DICKINSON. Born at Westminster, Vt., July 4, 1849. Graduated from the Theological School, Andover, June, 1879. Ordained and installed over the Second Parish Church in Portland, Me., Sept. 25, 1879. Installed over the Kirk Street Church, Lowell, January, 1883, and in 1887 was called to the Berkeley Street Church, Boston, where he organized the first institutional church, under the name of Berkeley Temple, of which he is now pastor. Has been officially connected with the United Society of Christian Endeavor since its organization. Address: Berkeley Temple, Boston, Mass.

LOREN GRISWOLD DuBOIS. Born at Boston, Mass., Oct. 18, 1853. Graduated from the Harvard Law School, in June, 1878. Admitted to the Suffolk bar in May, 1879. Has since practised his profession in Boston. Office: Room 5, 68 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass.

PERCIVAL LOWELL. Born at Boston, Mass., March 13, 1855. Immediately after graduation went abroad, and travelled in Europe and the East for a year. On his return went into business, more particularly the management of trust funds. Some months was acting treasurer of the Massachusetts Cotton Mills. In the spring of 1883 he went to Japan, and settled in Tokio, to study the language and the people, living for some time in the capital and then travelling into the interior. On his return to Tokio he was asked to accompany the Korean Special Mission to the United States, then in the capital, to America, as its foreign secretary and counsellor. This was the first embassy ever sent by Korea to any Western power. He accepted the post, and landed in San Francisco with the Koreans, on the 2d of September. They then travelled east, and the embassy was received by President Arthur in New York. After six weeks spent in the United States, the larger part of the embassy returned as they had come by the Pacific. Lowell went back with them. They reached Japan in November, and Korea just before Christmas. There in the capital, Soül, as the guest of the king, he passed the winter. The following spring he went back again to Japan, and, after staying there during the early summer, came home by way of Singapore and the Red Sea. In December, 1884, he published an account of Korea, his experiences and observations, under the title of "Choson, the Land of the Morning Calm," and in 1886 published "The Soul of the Far East," and in 1891 "Noto." He has been several times to Japan since, as well as more and less round the world. In 1891 he discovered certain trance practices of the Shinto faith, which he then investigated and upon which he gave, in 1893, a course of lectures at the Lowell Institute. In 1894 he established the Lowell Observatory in Arizona for the special study of the planet Mars, upon which he published several papers. Many important discoveries and valuable additions to scientific knowledge have rewarded his characteristically quiet but well-directed and public-spirited generosity. He is a member of the American Academy. Address: Room 850, 53 State street, Boston, Mass.

Address: Lawrence, Mass.

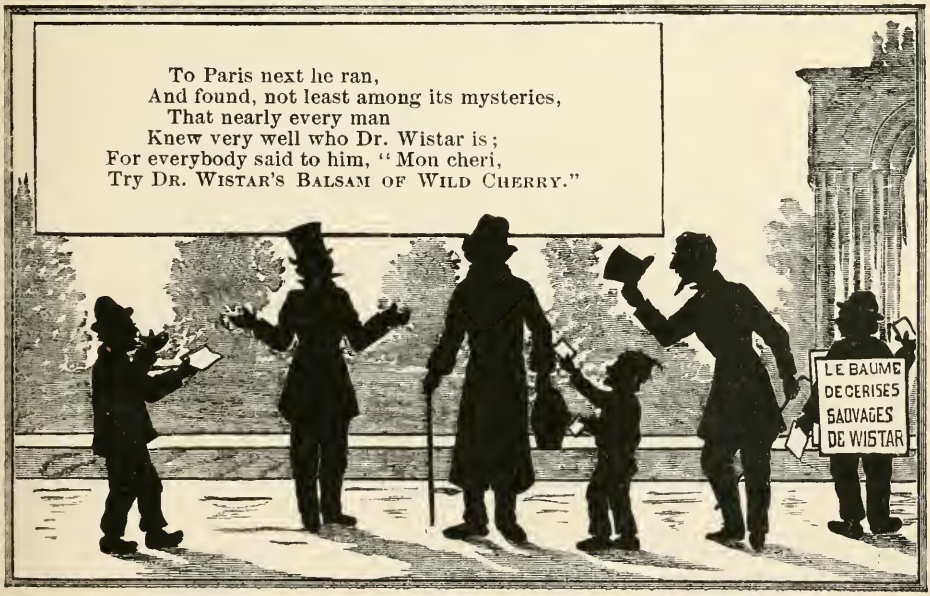
DANIEL CADY McMARTIN. Born at Johnstown, N.Y., Feb. 13, 1853. Writes: "Since last class report spent two years in Texas as a street railway superintendent. By judicious investments in town lots and careful living I managed to tie up half my pile for all time, and to acquire a fund of malaria that will last me to eternity. Since leaving Texas, about a year ago, I have spent the time in holding arguments with malaria. It always got the best of me, and finally disrupted one of my lungs. All this summer I have been wandering among the Rocky Mountains, hunting for a new lung. So far I have found it not; but, like the gold hunters, I have great hopes." The following verses (from the testimonial of Frank E. Chase) are quoted for the covert recommendations they artlessly convey:

WISTARS BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.
O'er Russia's icy waste
He took his way upon a bicycle,
And saw, affixed with paste,
A placard strange to every icicle.
"Translate this legend, please." A Russian merry
Replied, "Try WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY."
TRY WISTARS BALSAM



To Paris next he ran,
And found, not least among its mysteries,
That nearly every man
Knew very well who Dr. Wistar is;
For everybody said to him, "Mon cheri,
Try DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY."
LE BAUME DE CERISES SAUVAGES DE WISTAR

To India's coral strand
He went, and met a maiden beautiful;
He offered her his hand,
And she replied in manner dutiful
But murmured softly, as her lover kissed her,
"My own, try CHERRY BALSAM, made by WISTAR."
WILD CHERRY

"I wrote Billy Morris that I could still walk a mile. He replied, saying, I must be getting strong, because that was better than I could do twenty years ago. If any of my class friends want a few Texas town lots, dirt cheap, sand cheap, on the inside strictly, let them address me at Denver. The malaria I cannot spare. We have become too firmly attached to each other." Married Mary C. Cole, Nov. 16, 1882. Address: Denver, Colorado.

JOHN BARTOW OLMSTED. Born at Le Roy, N.Y., Jan. 28, 1854. Writes: "Read law in the office of Sprague, Gorham & Bacon, Buffalo, N.Y. Was admitted to the bar of

New York State in January, 1879. After marriage (in March, 1879) went abroad and travelled; spent considerable time in Germany, in attendance at lectures at Heidelberg University. Returned to this country in July, 1880. Began the practice of law at Le Roy, N.Y. Am a member of the Buffalo Civil Service Reform Club, and have taken an active part in that movement, having been for ten years a member of the executive committee, and for seven years treasurer of the association. Have been interested in politics to some extent, and was president of the Le Roy "Garfield and Arthur Club" in 1880. In the year 1882 returned to Buffalo and opened an office for the practice of law, and am now engaged in that occupation in Buffalo. Was one of the counsel for State of New York in the proceedings to take the Niagara Falls park lands. In November, 1885, accepted the position of attorney for the Pitts Agricultural Works, a large corporation in Buffalo, engaged in the extensive manufacture of threshing machinery and engines, and am now connected with that company as a director and its attorney. Have been secretary of the Harvard Association of Western New York, which position I held for three years. In campaign of 1884 was secretary of the Cleveland Republican Club of Erie county, and am still voting for G. Cleveland. Please amend catalogue of boys by striking out the number 'four' and inserting the number 'six;' then quote Macbeth on the situation. The oldest has begun to look through my scrap book and wants to know what 'A. B. Harris, Referee and Starter,' means. Shall refer him to George Green or some other Exeter man. Anent the rising generation I enclose a copy of some lines composed on an express train and read at a recent dinner of the Western New York Association. Please submit them to F. E. Chase, and on his advice either burn or preserve in the class archives as you may determine. I simply desire it known that I am not behind him as a member of '76 who practises literary arts in secret.

IN NINETY-THREE.

"Eheu fugaces, Postume!,"
How glide the flying years!
It is but yesterday, meseems,
Since we, with ringing cheers,

Marched round from Holworthy to Thayer
To show each pile of bricks
That Harvard ne'er again would see
A class like '76.

Since then crow's feet have clawed my eyes;
My hair shows strands of gray;
But still I've classed me with the youth
Until, the other day,

Old Time, through young Iulus' tongue,
Pronounced my sentence drear:
"When do I start for college, pa?"
Then struck my fortieth year!

I cannot longer laugh it off;
My date is hid in dust;
The moss is creeping up my back,
I rhyme with "must" and "rust."

I soon shall tell my stories twice
Anent those "good old times,"
Don woollen socks, eat soft boiled rice,
A poor old doddering Grimes.

I dipped my nose in Gascon wine
And looked on Master I,
As on the Bud the waning Belle Doth cast her evil eye.

"And what do folks in college do?"
Pursued the questioning youth.
Now, how was I to answer that,
And yet to speak the truth?

"One rule, my son, they never break,
They never bet a cent,
Except on certain things — or when
To clinch an argument.

"And Yale Yahoos like fools refuse
To yield to Reason's stress,
They sometimes back opinions with
A sum that's more or less."

"Do they call names and fight, dear pa?
And pull each other's hair?"
"Oh, no, my son, they play nice games
Like base and foot-ball there.

"And if, perchance, an arm or leg
Comes off in merry play,
The Medics pick them up, and so
They are not thrown away.

"And many a poor young doc., whose purse
Can't reach the graveyard's yield,
Just grasps his subject-basket, and Starts out for Jarvis Field.

"They never drink or smoke; those things
The college rules forbid;
And good boys mind the rules — at least
Your papa always did."

'Twas over my left shoulder that
I spoke those words of guile;
His mamma sitting there she heard
And smiled — I saw her smile.

But yet that blessed damosel
She gave me not away,
So I went on and told the boy
How hard we worked each day.

But what we worked at — that perhaps
Did not come out as plain,
He thought 'twas Greek — methought 'twas plans
For blowing up the drain.

And how in all my college course
I never missed a prayer;
You see I heard them in my bed
On the east side of Thayer!

How thin I grew in Fine Arts 2
"Whose tough field work," I said
"I ne'er forgot." He little wot
'Twas painting Boston red.

And tales immense of what per cents
On rank lists high I won,
But mentioned not the times I got
The fatal Vingt-et-un.

And more things, too, I'd tell to you
Of what I told my son,
If fast Train 8 had been more late,
But you'll thank God I've done.

Am still feeding a threshing machine and having it feed me in return. I am a member of the 'Saturn,' a social club of this city, of which I was one of the founders. Am also a member of the 'Liberal,' 'Thursday,' and 'Fortnightly' clubs which are local associations where you eat considerable and talk more. Have served my country and my king as bursar and vice-dean of the Saturn Club. Member of the Executive Committee of the Liberal and Thursday clubs, trustee of the Buffalo Female Seminary, civil service commissioner of the city of Buffalo. Boys' names are given in the accompanying schedule, and I would call the attention of those members of the class who may be still interested in straight flushes to Mark Bennett's hand and my own. Should like Moody's advice as to whether I had better stay in or call him on what I now hold." Present address: Care Pitts Agricultural Works, P.O. drawer 164, Buffalo, N.Y.

EDWARD EVERETT PARKER. Born at Salem, Mass., Dec. 9, 1852. Writes: "I am still an actor, and universally known as Ned Parker. Everybody called me by the name of Ned, and I finally adopted it as a stage name, but not legally. I am unmarried, and working hard." Address: 19 High street, Everett, Mass.

HAROLD PARKER. Born at Charlestown, Mass., June 17, 1854. Left the class early in the course, and have been unable to get any definite information about him.

NELSON WILLIAMS PERRY. Born at Columbus, O., May 22, 1853. An injury in the discharge of duty on the Nine necessitated his leaving college, and after a year at business he entered the School of Mines, Columbia College, New York, and graduated in 1878. Received appointment as economic geologist and mineralogist on the United States Geological and Geographical Survey of the Territories, F. V. Hayden in charge. In October, 1879, became mining engineer of the Bonaparte Consolidated Gold and Silver Mining Company, whose properties were located in Alturus county, Idaho Territory. Built himself a log-cabin there in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, and began his first house-keeping. Remained there one year, and then returned to Cincinnati to accept appointment of instructor in metallurgy at the Cincinnati University, and taught metallurgy, crystallography, qualitative and quantitative blow-piping, and assaying. Resigned; and in February, 1882, went to Mexico in the interest of New York and Cincinnati investors. As a scientist has done a good deal of close work, and discovered the element boron in a sample of iron ore from Michigan; also a new method of assaying platinum ores and alloys, published in "The Engineering and Mining Journal," also in "The London Chemical News," in 1879, and read before the American Institute of Mining Engineers at their meeting in Baltimore the same year. He has discovered a new mineral which he has yclept gunnisonite, analyses and description of which are published in "The Chemical Journal" (Remson). He has, besides, been engaged in further experiments and investigations of a scientific character. Writes: "I returned again to the Republic of Mexico with headquarters at Pinos, State of Zacatecas, in the capacity of engineer and metallurgist in charge of two groups of mines, one at Pinos, the other at Ramos, in the State of San Luis Potosi. After occupying this position for a year I returned to the United States, and have since been chiefly engaged in original research work in which chemistry has played an important part. While in Mexico I discovered another new mineral which I have called 'ramosite,' from the locality near which it was found. I read a description of this mineral before the American Institute of Mining Engineers in February, 1884, and the article appears in the 'Transactions of the Institute' for that year. I have also contributed a monograph upon the metal iridium, and compiled a bibliography of the literature bearing upon that metal, which appeared in the 'London Chemical News,' beginning, I think, with the issue of Feb. 2, 1885, and continuing through three numbers. It was also simultaneously published in 'The School of Mines Quarterly.' I have recently perfected some improved processes connected with the cotton-seed oil industry; an automatic detector of marsh-gas or fire-damp in mines, by which an alarm is sounded in the superintendent's office above ground. Having had by this time, as I thought, enough of frontier experiences, I turned my attention to practical electricity, and at different times have been connected with the Brush Electric Company, of Cleveland, O.; the Thomson-Houston Electric Company, of Boston and Lynn; and the Short Electric Railway Company, of Cleveland, O. In July, 1891, I accepted the position of technical editor of 'Electricity,' a new weekly electrical journal then published in Chicago. About Christmas-time the publication office was moved to New York, and I followed, succeeding to the managing editorship. In June, 1892, I resigned to go into private practice as an electrical engineer in Chicago. Six months later accepted position of associate editor of 'The Electrical World,' of New York, succeeding in a month or two to the position of editor-in-chief. In September of 1893 I resigned to occupy a somewhat larger field, and have since been connected, and am now, with three journals, — 'Electricity,' 'Street Railway Gazette,' and the 'Engineering Magazine.' Of the first I am managing editor, and of the last associate editor. Have made a number of electrical inventions, the most important of which, perhaps, is a method of operating electric street-cars in series. I read a paper on this invention before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, of which I am a member, in 1892. This may be found in the 'Transactions of the Institute' for that year. Last winter the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia awarded me the John Scott legacy and medal for this same invention. Since entering electrical journalism I have necessarily become a somewhat prolific writer, so that it would be a greater task than I care to undertake even to catalogue the signed articles of mine that have appeared from time to time in the various engineering and electrical journals both in this country and abroad. I cannot refrain, however, from mentioning a unique experience of one of my articles. It first appeared in 'Electricity.' It was soon after copied in the English electrical journals and then translated into French and published in 'La Nature,' in France, but without credit to the paper in which it originally appeared. In this shape it attracted the attention of the editor of the 'Scientific American,' who translated it back into English and published it in his paper, crediting it to 'La Nature.' While I was in attendance on the International Electrical Congress, to which I was a delegate last year, I became acquainted with one of the French savants who, it seems, was formerly the editor of 'La Nature.' In the course of conversation he began telling me of an article he had published sometime previously, and, upon my showing some familiarity with it, he remarked that perhaps I had seen it. I replied that I had seen it — not only seen it, but that I had written it. My present address is either 6 Park place, or 47 Times Building, New York; Nelson W. Perry, editor."

CHARLES WARNER PLUMMER. Born at New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 19, 1853. Has continued in active business in New Bedford and the South. Address: New Bedford, Mass.

FRANK MORRIS PORTER. Born at Dixmont, Me., Feb. 16, 1852. With the class a very short time. Have been unable to locate him.

June 26, 1884, Mary Sophia Chandler, New Salem, Mass. Has been engaged in teaching since graduation. 1877–80, principal of New Salem Academy, New Salem, Mass. 1880–82, instructor in classics and mathematics, St. John's School, Boston. 1882–86, head-master of Jarvis Hall, private school for boys, Denver, Col. 1886 to present time, High School District Number One, Denver, Col.; elected principal, January, 1892. Appointed by the Committee of Ten a member of the Greek conference which met at Michigan University, Dec. 28, 1892. Elected president of the Department of Secondary Education of the National Educational Association, July, 1894. Address: 2112 Lincoln avenue, Denver, Col.

GEORGE CURWIN WARD. Born at Malden, Mass., March 19, 1855. Homœopathic physcian, practising first at Oakdale, later South Yarmouth, Mass., then Sanbornton. Is postmaster and town clerk of Sanbornton, N.H. Married Lucy E. Gilman, Oct. 18, 1882. Address: Sanbornton, N.H.

FRANK PEMBERTON WARD. Born at Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 15, 1855. Since the record in last report has been in New York, variously engaged. Address: 252 West 26th street, New York city.

JAMES EDWARD WELCH. Born at Worcester, Mass., Feb. 10, 1854. The last time he was heard from he was in New York city.

JAMES HOWARD WELLES. Born in Glastonbury, Conn., June 28, 1853. Writes: "After leaving college studied law in the office of Hon. William Hamersley, Hartford, Conn., and admitted to the bar, June, 1880. In the fall of 1880 I abandoned the law and went into business, first with W. T. Parker (Harvard, '73), in the manufacture of paper, and later with the George W. Wheelwright Paper Co., with whom I remained until July, 1884. For the next year had no active occupation. In November, 1886, became associated first as assistant secretary and later assistant treasurer of the International Company of Mexico, a Connecticut enterprise, but with its main office in New York city, and dealing in lands, mines, etc., in the Republic of Mexico. Was with this corporation until its dissolution by sale to an English syndicate in June, 1889. Passed the remainder of '89 and early part of '90 in idleness and travel. In May, 1890, was appointed teller, and in January, 1894, assistant cashier of the Uncas National Bank, Norwich, Conn., where I am still engaged." Address: Norwich, Conn.

BENJAMIN WILLIS WELLS. Born at Walpole, N.H., Jan. 31, 1856. Left the class on account of ill health in 1874 and travelled in the West and in South America. Returned to Harvard and graduated in the class of 1877. Then went abroad and studied till 1879 in Berlin. He returned to Harvard and took Ph.D. degree there in 1880. He then resided for some months at Oxford, but returned to take a fellowship at the Johns Hopkins University. He was soon after appointed instructor in modern language in the Friends School, Providence, R.I., where he remained till 1887. In the summer of 1887 he went with his family to Europe and resided there till the summer of 1891, chiefly in Berlin and Munich, devoting himself to historical research and to political and financial correspondence, especially with the "New York Evening Post." He has then and since published articles in the following journals and reviews: "The Historical Review" (London); "The Month" (London); "Anglia" (Leipzic); "Translations of the American Philological Association;" "Modern Language Notes" (Baltimore); "The Church Eclectic" (Utica); "The Sewanee Review," and some minor publications. He has edited an edition of Schiller's "Maid of Orleans" for D. C. Heath & Co., and has in the press with the same firm an abridged edition of Zola's "La Débâcle." Soon after his return to America he accepted the professorship of modern languages in the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he now resides, occupied with teaching and literary criticism. Address: Box 4, Sewanee, Tenn.

BARRETT WENDELL. Born at Boston, Mass., Aug. 23, 1885. Was obliged to leave the class in the spring of 1873 on account of his health. Graduated H. U. 1877. Studied law for one year at the Harvard Law School, and for two years in offices, one in New York, one in Boston. In the autumn of 1880 subsequently returned to Harvard as instructor in English, where, with the intermission of one year, he has remained. Is now assistant professor of English. Publications: "The Duchess Emilia," 1885; "Rankill's Remains," 1887; "English Composition" (Lowell Lectures), 1891; "Cotton Mather," 1891; "Stilligin and other Essays concerning America," 1893; "William Shakespere" (in press), 1894. Fellow of American Academy, and member of Massachusetts Historical Society. Is now abroad for a year of travel and study. Address: 358 Marlboro' street, Boston, Mass.

ADDISON HERBERT WETHERBEE. Born at Melrose, Mass., April 26, 1854. Book-keeping at last accounts.

KENDRICK WHEELER. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., February 8, 1852. Writes: "For two years after leaving college my health would not permit me to engage in any active business. February, 1878, joined engineering corps engaged in constructing the western extension of the N. Y. & N. E. R.R.; remained with them until January, 1881. Then I was engaged in travelling for different firms until the fall of 1889, covering during that period most of the country from New Brunswick to Kansas. In 1890 I went into the electric business with the Thomson-Houston Electric Company. After constructing two roads here in Pittsburgh I remained with the last one, where I still am connected with the general manager's office of the Pittsburgh, Allegheny & Manchester Traction Company. Address: Care Pittsburgh, Allegheny & Manchester Traction Company, Allegheny, Penn.

JOHN WIGGINS. Born at St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 16, 1854. Graduated at the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia College) in March, 1879. NECROLOGY.

Some more Class Records have been completed. Perhaps this may not come home to the Class so forcefully as to their Secretary.

The babe of the year we entered college has become a qualified voter. Gathered from the four quarters, our common interests centred for four years about Cambridge because the home of Fair Harvard, the cradle of our intellectual manhood. Then, scattered again, let us hope as a leaven to work out nobler and better life about us, as many years have passed as the average age of the Class on entrance.

How nearly we have lived up to the standards of our own volition, and realized the hopes of our youthful enthusiasm, each must answer for himself. If there be any twinge of regret and depression from taking stock of our individual progress, we can all hark back to our college days for fresh inspiration and new courage.

If those who promised then so fair a future have drained a mixed cup, and wonder at their present vocation, there are others who have rounded out a more honorable and useful career than seemed within their powers.

It is the same dear old Class, and there is future and to spare for fresh laurels, and a glorious recovery to the true place meant for each to fill.

Where success has been most pronounced it is instinct with the tenderest sympathy for those our peers when the world lay before us all alike, and who have endured with us the heat and burden of the day. Where the lines have been cast more harshly, the rugged character and sturdy manhood of our Class knit us together in a deeper and higher kinship.

And as we think over our Brothers who have fought their fight and fallen by the way, there is a deeper bond than ever before that welds our Class into sympathy and good-fellowship.

The quiet, true Bradford; the faithful, conscientious Collins; the pure, sweet-souled Hinkley are at rest.

The energetic Harris, the erratically brilliant MacArthur, and the patient Mason have gone from us; the masterful young physician Strong, that hard worker Potter, the daring Tappan, the talented Blaine, and poor Kebler.

While in the death of our first scholar Lefavour a life of high aims and rare attainments came to an untimely close; and in Weld all lost a friend, and one whose splendid generosity was veiled with such a courtly modesty and abounding kindnesses that it never has been appreciated fully.

The Good Book tells us that in the centre of ancient learning there was raised once an altar to the Unknown God.

There are several of our Class unheard from, some of whom may have ceased from their labors. So here let me say one word for our unknown dead:

God grant that you rendered "loyal service in your time, and that no shadows rested on your path, but rather growing, culminating light." God rest you, Brother mine, and to-day '76 would lay this chaplet on your grave:

O passi graviora dabit Deus his quoque finem.
